PROJECTS :

GITHUB USER BREAKDOWN
03/2019

Allows a user to enter any valid GitHub username and see a basic breakdown of their statistics, such as language usage, commit density, and average commit times. We worked mainly with React and Context for the front end application.

REFUGEE STORIES
04/2019

Refugee stories is an app designed to allow users who may not normally be able to share their hardships, do so anonymously. I worked primarily on the backend with Node, Express, and PostgreSQL while helping out with React on the front end.

FITME
02/2019

Fit Me is a conceptual application to help users take control of tracking their workouts. I designed a landing page with placeholder information to serve as a marketing page for the main react application.
